OH Report Writing

Preparing management reports from OH referrals

Preparing high quality OH reports is one of the most important tasks that occupational health professionals undertake. This workshop has been put together by The At Work Partnership to help OH practitioners produce concise, well-written OH reports that:

- provide quality information for managers – and can be understood by employees
- will be defensible if the information contained in them is ever required in legal proceedings

This training is designed for:

- OH professionals
- Other professionally registered practitioners working in OH

How will attending this training benefit you?

- Learn how to write robust OH reports that will stand up to scrutiny in a court or an employment tribunal
- Find out how to comply with the latest legislation
- Gain an understanding of the whole process of report writing – from the initial referral to the final report – in order to maximise the usefulness of the report to management
- Enhance your report writing style – do's and don'ts of report writing in practice
- Improve your ability to identify the type and quantity of information required to produce reports of the highest standards
- Understand how to audit and improve your clinical record keeping and reports
- Receive detailed, clear documentation to help you when you are writing your OH reports

Course outline

This workshop covers the preparation of occupational health reports for management, following the OH referral. It will cover practice issues such as sickness absence, likely return to work, disability and case management. The course follows the principles on confidentiality and medical reports established in guidance published by the GMC, FOM and the ICO. The At Work Partnership takes the view that these guidance principles apply to all health professionals working in an OH setting.

The training follows six key stepping stones to excellence in OH report writing:

ABOUT OUR EXPERT TUTORS

Sandra Winters is managing director of Organisational Wellbeing Limited, and was previously head of health and wellbeing for NHS England. She is a nurse consultant in OH, and specialises in the strategic development of workplace health and wellbeing.

Dr Nerys Williams is a specialist in occupational medicine and is a former deputy director of health and wellbeing at the Department for Work and Pensions (DWP). She has extensive audit experience and is the current clinical appraisal lead for the Society of Occupational Medicine.

Prof Diana Kloss is a barrister, former employment judge and honorary senior lecturer in OH Law at the University of Manchester. She is an honorary fellow of the Faculty of Occupational Medicine, an ACAS arbitrator, and in 2009, was awarded an MBE.
